Department of Education Mental Evaluation and Gun Procedure
R.e30

Overview

The effort to dismantle the culture of school shootings can be combated by the use of tracking our footprints with phones, social media platforms, PCs, and marketing profiles for personal database information regarding gun purchases.

Students should be required to undergo a mental health evaluation assessment every quarter. This could potentially identify the early onset of personality disorders, which makes some more prone of violent behaviors, such as seen in cluster Bs.

This procedure has the benefit of customizing better academic plans and curriculum.

This could assist in bullying, suicide, and mass shooting prevention. It could help parents to better understand their children.

The use of biometrics guns and digital bullets that are required to register in a large database that can be tracked and deactivated remotely is effective.

The use of enforcing hotlines for people when they have Homicidal thoughts is crucial for outreach within the community.
